BIDDING: North's 2NT was a game-forcing bid showing spade support. South's 3NT showed a balanced hand with 14-16 high card points. After two control showing bids, North used Roman Keycard Blackwood. South admitted to two keycards (4 aces + trump king) along with the queen of spades and North bid the slam.

Play: West led the king of diamonds and declarer stopped to consider his play. Along with 2 diamond ruffs in dummy, declarer counted 5 spades, 3 hearts, 1 diamond, and 1 club for 12 tricks. He won the ace in his hand and immediately ruffed a diamond in dummy. Next, he led a spade to his king to make sure that suit was behaving, and then trumped his last diamond in dummy. With 12 tricks certain, he now turned his attention to a valuable overtrick. That could come from a 4th heart trick or a squeeze. The squeeze would work if the same opponent held four hearts and the club king. In preparation for that, after cashing the spade ace, he played the club ace. This play called the Vienna Coup was necessary to remove an "idle" card in the hand of the opponent who was to be squeezed. Now a heart back to the king and declarer simply played the rest of his spades. Here was the ending with one spade left to be played:

♥ AQ8 ♣ 9
♥ J109
♣ K
♠ 5 ♥ 65 ♣ Q

On the last spade, West was toast. He finally discarded his club hoping his partner held the queen but was soon disappointed. It's important to see the squeeze would not work if the ace of clubs was not cashed early.

When defending a contract it is usually necessary to cash all side winners before attempting an uppercut or trump promotion. This hand shows why.

BIDDING: South's preemptive bid bought the contract.

Play: West led the king of clubs and received a discouraging deuce from his partner. But, when West continued with the ace of clubs, East realized his partner held only two clubs (the ace is the normal lead from AK) so he followed with the ten as a suit preference card showing an entry in hearts. Next, West cashed the ace of diamonds followed by a heart to East's ace. East led another club promoting his partner's jack of spades as the setting trick.

Why this may seem like routine defense, if West fails to cash the ace of diamonds before leading a heart, declarer will simply discard his losing diamond on the third round of clubs.

Some hands are relatively easy to play while others involve a lot of work. This one took quite an effort but declarer had a roadmap.

BIDDING: North cue bid the opponents' suit to ask about the strength of the overcall. South showed a minimum and North bid game.

Play: West led the eight of clubs to dummy's ace. The auction told declarer that the major suit kings and the ace of diamonds were in the East hand. He saw he must lose one spade, one heart and one diamond so he must avoid losing a club. At trick two he led a low spade from dummy and East won the king. East continued with a high club to dummy's king. Declarer continued with a spade to his queen and then a heart back to the ace. It made no sense to take a heart finesse that was bound to lose. Now he cashed the ace of spades and East ruffed with the king while declarer discarded his last club. East led a third club trying to promote a trump for his partner but declarer ruffed with the queen. Declarer drew the last trump followed by a heart to dummy's eight. All that was left was to lead a low diamond toward his king. Game bid and made!

The key to this hand was to simply remember the auction. East's opening bid gave South all the information he needed to succeed.

Slam bidding can be difficult. Blackwood and Roman Keycard Blackwood are two of the most popular conventions available, but they don't always answer your questions.

BIDDING: South opened a strong two clubs and North's response showed values and was game forcing. Next, South set the trump suit by jumping in hearts. This also asked North to: 1) Bid an ace if he had one; 2) If not, bid 3NT if he had a king; or 3) Bid 4♥ with no high honor. After the king-showing 3NT, South asked which king North held. The diamond response was of no help since South needed a club control. However, after South signed off in 4♥, North continued with 5♣ showing he also held that king. Knowing they were missing the ace of clubs, South bid the small slam. Since this was a pairs event he considered bidding 6NT, but he realized he may not have an entry to dummy.

Play: West led the ace of clubs and South soon claimed the remaining tricks. This result scored surprisingly well since many N/S pairs did not know how to discover if North held a club control. It's clear an ace-asking convention would not help you find out about the club suit.

If the bidding used above is not to your liking, then perhaps using Italian cue bidding where both first and second round controls are shown would help. I recommend you discuss this with your partners. This slam was too good to miss.

TIP OF THE MONTH

The Convention Card – part 5 of a 16-part series

This month: the section titled “opening 2 of a suit”.

The next section is for describing how you and your partner treat opening suit bids at the 2 level.

If you and you partner treat all opening 2 bids as strong / game forcing, then on the left side of the section, check the box with the word ‘strong’ / ‘natural’ for all 4 suits. Also show the high card point range(s) for all 4 suits. Leave the right side of the section alone.

If you and your partner have agreed to use 2 clubs as a strong forcing opening bid with the other 3 suits as something else, mark the 2 clubs line as strong with a high card point count range. Then mark how the first response should be interpreted. The strong 2 club opening bid requires the responder to bid twice except for when the opener’s rebid is no trump or at a game level. Many players use a 2 diamond response as waiting for the 2 club opener to show a suit or notrump. After the opener rebids a suit, then the 2nd response can be support for partner’s suit or a cheaper minor to show a bust hand. If the opener’s rebid is notrump, then use Stayman or a transfer bid if these are in your agreement for opening 1 or 2 notrump. Otherwise, a suit bid is to play. After a strong 2 club opener, a first response of 2 hearts/spades or 3 clubs/diamonds is a positive response showing a good 5-card suit with interest in slam. Some players use the 2 diamond first response as a waiting bid with a 2 heart response as artificial showing a very weak hand (0-3 points with no king); a response of 2 notrump is then used as a heart suit positive response.

Many players use the opening bid of 2 diamonds/hearts/spades as a weak 2 pre-emptive bid showing a 6-card suit, less than an opening hand value, a majority of high card points in the bid suit, and shortness (less than 3 cards) in the unbid major suit(s). Responder’s bid is best handled as forcing. Most players use the 2 notrump response as a forcing bid asking for the weak 2 opener to show a feature (king in a side suit) - to see if the weak 2 opener has an entry for a possible 3 notrump contract).

Some players do not use a weak 2 opening bid for 2 diamonds and 2 hearts. Some players will use an agreement called Flannery for an opening bid of 2 diamonds. Other players use an agreement called mini-roman for 2 diamonds and Flannery for 2 hearts. Mark this section accordingly if you and your partner use either of these 2 conventional bidding agreements.

Next month’s tip: The section titled “other conventional calls”.

BRIDGE BITES

#77 – A SITTING DUCK

	♠ K3 ♥ 6 ♦ AQ853 ♣ QJT98
♠ QJ9852 ♥ 82 ♦ 972 ♣ 76	North West East Declarer	♠ ♥ KQJ754 ♦ KJ4 ♣ A542
	♠ AT764 ♥ AT93 ♦ T6 ♣ K3

N-S Vulnerable

South	West	North	East
			1♥
1♠	Pass	2♦	2♥
2NT	Pass	3NT	All Pass

N-S are a little shy of the 25 or so HCP generally required to make 3NT. On the other hand, they do have a source of tricks in Clubs which gets Declarer up to eight winners. And where there are eight there's often a 9th, as East is about to find out to his detriment.

West dutifully leads his partner's Heart suit and the Jack is taken by Declarer's Ace (holding up won't achieve anything).

The ♠K comes next and East wins his Ace. At this point East can count (at least) eight tricks for Declarer, namely two Spades (because surely Declarer has the Ace), one Heart, one Diamond and four Clubs. East can also deduce that Declarer started with ♥AT9x, because West's opening lead from ♥Tx would be the Ten and from ♥Txx would be a low one. That being the case, it's clear that persisting with Hearts will merely serve to set up Declarer's game-going trick. A Diamond is no better, of course, so East does the best he can by exiting safely with a Club. A nice try, but it just delays the inevitable.

On the run of the Clubs Declarer pitches two Spades and a Diamond, and then cashes the ♠K followed by the ♠A. With East known to have the missing Heart honors and nothing left but red cards, he is a sitting duck for an end-play. Declarer simply exits with the ♥T and sits back smugly while East chooses whether to surrender the 9th trick in Hearts or in Diamonds.

#78 – THE GRIFFINS CLUB

	♠ Q32 ♥ QJ2 ♦ AJ654 ♣ 43
♠ 6 ♥ T986 ♦ QT98 ♣ KJ86	North West RR Declarer	♠ 54 ♥ K7543 ♦ 7 ♣ QT975
	♠ AKJT987 ♥ A ♦ K32 ♣ A2

If you are looking for a hilarious bridge read, try the Bridge in the Menagerie series, written by the late Victor Mollo. The setting is the Griffins bridge club, and the protagonists are named for animals whose characteristics they exhibit. Our favorites are the hopeless (but amazingly lucky) Rueful Rabbit (RR) and the insufferably brilliant, claret-swilling Hideous Hog.

The contract is an ambitious 7♠. West leads the ♥T, and a devious Declarer plays the Queen from Dummy, hoping to tempt East into covering. But East plays low, knowing that West would not underlead an Ace against a grand slam. Declarer's Ace wins the trick and trumps are drawn. Next,

Declarer cashes the ♦K, finesses the ♦J, cashes the ♦A and ruffs a Diamond. The ♠Q provides an entry to the long Diamond and that's 13 tricks for Declarer. Routine stuff, eh?

That may be the normal way to play and defend, but RR doesn't do normal. To spare himself the chore of thinking (which he finds quite difficult) he lives by certain rules ... third hand high ... cover an honor with an honor ... and many others. So, at Trick 1, RR does cover the ♥Q, gleefully following two rules at one fell swoop! This "mistake" gives Declarer an option. Now, instead of relying on the 50% Diamond finesse, he can triumph whenever Diamonds are 3-2 (a 68% chance) ... draw trumps, cash the ♦K, cross to the ♦A, pitch a Diamond on the Rabbit-created Heart winner, and ruff a Diamond. But, alas for Declarer, this fails when Diamonds are 4-1 and he goes down in his cold grand. RR strikes again!

If the Hog had been sitting East he also would have covered with the ♥K at Trick 1. But in his case the Hog would (somehow) have divined that it was the winning play and we can still hear him chortling in between celebratory gulps of Chateau Margaux 94 (perhaps some of them even from his own glass).

#79 – THE ONLY CHANCE

	♠ QJ76 ♥ 872 ♦ 964 ♣ K32
♠ A ♥ J3 ♦ AKJT5 ♣ T8754	North West East Declarer	♠ 42 ♥ QT964 ♦ Q87 ♣ QJ9
	♠ KT9853 ♥ AK5 ♦ 32 ♣ A6

N-S Vulnerable

South	West	North	East
	1♦	Pass	1♥
1♠	2♣	2♠	Pass
4♠	All Pass

The defense starts with Diamonds and Declarer ruffs the third round. Declarer has lost two tricks already, must later lose the ♠A, and appears to have an inescapable Heart loser. Down one? Or perhaps there is a way to escape that Heart loser after all?

Declarer makes her contract by “stripping the hand”. After ruffing the Diamond, she cashes the ♣A, then the ♣K, and ruffs a Club. Then she cashes the ♥A and ♥K and plays a trump. Her hope is that West started with the singleton Ace of trumps in which case there will be no safe exit. Whichever minor suit West chooses to lead, Declarer will be able to ruff in one hand and pitch the “inescapable” Heart loser from the other hand.

A bouquet for Declarer, who did well to grab the only chance she had to make her contract. But a brickbat to West who apparently was fast asleep during the entire proceedings. He walked straight into that end-play and could have avoided it by cashing the trump Ace at Trick 2, before persisting with Diamonds. After that defense there really would be no way to avoid a Heart loser.

#80 – NERVES OF STEEL

	♠ AK76 ♥ QJ ♦ J64 ♣ QT76
♠ 932 ♥ T8754 ♦ 75 ♣ K43	North West East Declarer	♠ 54 ♥ K93 ♦ AKT98 ♣ J92
	♠ QJT8 ♥ A62 ♦ Q32 ♣ A85

Both Vulnerable

South	West	North	East
		1♣	1♦
1♠	Pass	2♠	Pass
4♠	All Pass

4♠ is a miserable contract, and clearly has no chance after the defense cashes two Diamonds and gets a Diamond ruff. E-W will be happy to go plus, but naturally they would prefer down two to down one. You are West, your nerve is about to be tested.

After getting your Diamond ruff, you exit safely with a trump. Dummy's ♠A wins that, the ♥Q is run around successfully, the ♠K is cashed, then the ♥J is covered by the King and Ace. Next is a Heart ruff and a Club to Declarer's Ace. Have you been busily counting the distribution, Mr. West? Of course you have! By now it is clear that Declarer was dealt four Spades (as East followed twice), and three Hearts (as East also showed up with three), and three Diamonds (from the bidding and the play). That means that Declarer started life with three Clubs, no more, no less.

You see where this is headed, don't you? Declarer now leads a low Club, and you resist the temptation to grab the ♣K for the setting trick. Instead, with an air of nonchalance, you play low, after which it is a pretty safe bet that Declarer will guess to finesse the Ten, losing to East's Jack. Down two!

It didn't really take nerves of steel to duck the ♣K, all that was required was some counting as the play unfolded. That would have reassured West that Declarer started with three Clubs and not a doubleton, and that the ♣K was sure to score a trick sooner or later.
